Action taken by the Affiliating University on the feedback:

In response to the evolving educational landscape and industry demands, Savitribai Phule Pune University (SPPU) has undertaken significant revisions to the syllabi of the Master of Computer Applications (MCA) and Master of Business Administration (MBA) programs. These revisions aim to enhance the quality of education, align with industry requirements, and streamline the academic journey for our students.

1. MCA Syllabus Revision:

The MCA program's syllabus has been revised to optimize the curriculum duration while ensuring comprehensive coverage of essential topics. Following careful deliberation and consultation with academic experts, industry stakeholders, and faculty members, the decision was made to condense the MCA syllabus from a duration of 3 years to 2 years.

This revision aims to provide students with a more focused and concentrated learning experience without compromising the depth and breadth of knowledge in the field of computer applications. The updated syllabus incorporates the latest advancements in technology, industry trends, and practical skills necessary for MCA graduates to excel in their careers.

2. MBA Syllabus Specialization Reduction:

In alignment with the evolving business landscape and feedback from stakeholders, adjustments have been made to the MBA program's specialization structure. The objective is to provide students with a more flexible and dynamic curriculum that caters to diverse career aspirations while ensuring the acquisition of core business competencies.

As part of this initiative, the specialization requirements within the MBA program have been reduced. This modification allows students greater flexibility in customizing their academic journey based on their interests, career goals, and emerging industry demands. By reducing the specialization requirements, students can explore a broader range of elective courses, interdisciplinary studies, and experiential learning opportunities.
